

Do you want a say in how your GP practice delivers health care services?

If you're a student, working or you could give a little time you might like to join your surgery's Patient Participation Group (PPG).

You'll work closely with the surgery to ensure health services and facilities meet patient needs.

Your PPG meets either face-to-face, online or a mix of both and won't take up much of your time.

Interested? For more information contact your practice manager or look at your surgery's website for details on how to join.
